

Climate Cops Make a Visit to Milford School!

Class 9 and Class 11 were really lucky at the beginning of this term because they got a chance to train as Climate Cops at the Climate Academy. The Climate Academy came to Milford Primary School to train the children to be responsible for saving energy around our school and at home.

They learned lots of things about how we make the energy we need use to power our school and their homes. They also learned lots of ways they could save energy around the home. Here are some things they learned:

'I learned how to save electricity by turning the light off when you leave a room,' Kiarah.

'I learned how to recycle paper and why it is important,' Tia.

'We can use solar panels to make electricity, this is better for our environment,' Simon.

'We need to save energy because the smoke from the factories that make it are suffocating our planet!' Tyler and Korben.

'I enjoyed it because we did lots of different activities and by doing the activities it made us learn more about how to save electricity,' Tia and Ellie.
